Supervisors Will Meet Next Week

GRAND HAVEN — A short two-day session of the Ottawa county Board of Supervisors is scheduled for next week at the county building, at which annual reports will be submitted by the various county officers.

The January session will open at 1:30 p.m. Monday and a light agenda has been prepared by the chairman, Robert L. Murray, Coopersville.

On the same day, at 11 a.m., Judge Raymond L. Smith will preside at the opening of the January term of circuit court.

It is expected that the supervisors will approve final plans and specifications for the proposed new county building at the January session. Tentative drawings were presented at the October session by the architects, Vander Meiden and Koteles, of Grand Haven, who have been requested by the improvements committee to have the final plans ready next week. Herman Windemuller of Park Township is chairman of the committee. It is hoped that bids will be taken in early spring of this year and construction will be completed by fall.

Plans call for a two-story brick building similar to the new jail to be erected on Washington St., in front of the present 61-year-old structure, which is inadequate and badly in need of repair. Estimated cost of the new building is $600,000.

Also on the agenda will be a report from the good roads committee on a proposal by the Holland Fish and Game club to convert property owned by the club near Zealand into a roadside park.

Prosecutor James W. Bussard will rule on a problem involving insurance benefits for members of the sheriff's department.

Council Will Reconsider Allegan Plan

ALLEGAN — A former mayor's charge that a large portion of the city's $204,000 general fund surplus has been accumulated illegally was described Wednesday by a present council member as "typical of the negative thinking that has stymied too many community projects."

Councilman C. J. Smith, in an open letter calling for "positive thinking and positive action" on the downtown redevelopment plan, said that former Mayor Richard Haskins' charge that most of the surplus is actually earmarked street fund money "does not hold water."

Action on the downtown plan was postponed at the Dec. 30 meeting when Haskins questioned the legal status of the surplus fund. After Councilman Leo Hoffman disqualified himself (since he owns property which would be acquired under the plan as well as property which would be assessed for the improvements) the council split 2-2 on a resolution calling for implementation of the project.

Smith, who voted with T. E. Malila to proceed with the plan, said he found Haskins' views hard to understand. He pointed out that annual audits showing similar surplus funds had been approved each of the four years Haskins served on Council, and called attention to a resolution initiated and approved by Haskins which set aside $100,000 of the surplus for a new fire station, besides purchasing two parcels of property.

Smith said the sincerity of the former mayor has never been questioned, but it is puzzling as to what motivated the latest delaying action.

Council plans to reconsider the resolution Monday, Jan. 13.

Mississippi River Subject Of Book Review

Patrons of Herrick Public Library had an entertaining hour Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Edward Donivan, librarian at Holland High School, reviewed the book, "The Amazing Mississippi," by Willard Price.

The mighty Mississippi begins as a babbling brook in northern Minnesota and meanders northward quite some distance before heading south in a course almost 5,000 miles long, coming within 60 miles of the western tip of Lake Superior.

"Had the explorers gone from west to east in America, the Mississippi likely would have been discovered through the Missouri river which originates in Saskatchewan, thereby making it the longest river in the world," Mrs. Donivan said. "As it is, the Mississippi and its 100,000 tributaries, large and small, are in 31 of the 48 states of continental United States."

The Mississippi courses through the heart of Minneapolis in a sylvan canyon which is a bird sanctuary, but once these sparkling waters join with the turbid Missouri river, it no longer is beautiful, but muddy, majestic and erratic. Research reveals that river originally terminated at Cairo, Ill., but the millions of tons of mud dumped in the flats year after year extended the river another 1,000 miles now terminating in the delta region many miles south of New Orleans, La.

The book paid tribute to the mighty effort of the U.S. Army Engineers in controlling flood problems and keeping the mighty river navigable. The flood of 1927 left 800,000 homeless, and a system of levees, spillways and other ingenious construction has brought relatively adequate control. At the lower section, the Mississippi is "paved" for 600 feet from each bank toward the main channel. These slabs of concrete must be replaced every 25 years.

Commerce on the Mississippi is at a tremendously high level, entailing a huge shipping business growing out of World War II. A single towboat, a misnomer for a powerful three or four-deck vessel which pushes barges, can move a shipment equal to the capacity of two ocean liners, Mrs. Donivan said.

Mrs. A.A. Dykstra of the library staff introduced Mrs. Donivan and Mrs. Holmes Linn displayed books on other rivers. Next month Mrs. William Swets will review a book.

Last Minute Agreement Ends Suit

ALLEGAN — One of the county's most involved civil court cases ended late Wednesday afternoon when litigants announced that agreement had been reached on a settlement totaling $8,500 minutes before a Circuit Court jury was supposed to announce its verdict.

One member of the jury reported that a verdict totaling $16,700 has been reached, after seven hours' deliberation.

At one time the case involved five plaintiffs and six different defendants, producing one of the most bulkier court records on file here.

County Clerk Esther Warner Hettinger said she believed it was the first time in the county's history that a settlement — which will be entered as a consent judgment — was reached minutes before a jury was ready to bring in a verdict.

Plaintiffs in the case included Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McCormick, individually and as administrators of the estate of their minor son, Phillip, Mrs. Margaret Brown, all of Allegan, the Dairyland Mutual Insurance Co. as insurers for Mrs. Ann Battles, route 1, Paris, Mich.

Defendant in the matter settled Wednesday was Thomas Schippers, owner of Tom's Tavern, in Otsego.

Schippers and the owners of two other taverns were named co-defendants in suits initiated by the McCormicks for furnishing intoxicants to Raymond F. Battles, 20, route 1, Paris. Battles was driver of a car owned by his mother, Mrs. Anna Battles, which crossed over the centerline and collided with the McCormick car, Nov. 15, 1962. The 15-month-old son, Phillip, was fatally injured and the other occupants of the car, Mrs. McCormick and her mother, Mrs. Brown, were also badly injured.

Last March 27, Battles pleaded guilty to a charge of negligent homicide and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and two years' probation.

Wednesday's last-minute settlement brought the total of all damages in cases growing out of the accident to $24,500.

The Dairyland Mutual Insurance Co., as insurer of the Battles car, will receive $4,300 from Wednesday's settlement.

Other consent judgments recorded in the case include $9,900 from Battles and his mother, $1,000 from Loren Gunnelt, owner of Skip's Tavern in Otsego, and $5,100 from Max Miller, owner of the Pullman Tavern in Pullman. All three tavern operators admitted furnishing intoxicants to Battles on the day of the accident and were joined as defendants under Michigan's "dram shop act" which holds a bar or tavern responsible for the actions of patrons who become intoxicated on their premises.

Allegan Court Names Counsel

ALLEGAN — An Otsego youth, David Barber, 21, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Allegan Circuit Court Wednesday morning on charges of felonious assault.

Barber was arrested and jailed in Allegan following a scuffle with police Dec. 28 in Otsego. Officer Ross Pahl, Plainwell, suffered head wounds requiring hospital treatment while attempting to establish that Barber and Anthony Cronen, 17, has caused a disturbance and damaged property in an Otsego tavern.

Bond was set at $500 and judge Raymond Smith issued an order appointing Allegan attorney John Nahon to act as counsel for Barber.

A plea of guilty was entered for Orrin B. Wells, 17, of Plainwell, held on an indecent liberties charge. Bond was set at $500 and sentence deferred until Feb. 17. Both youths are being held in county jail.

Commissioner Joseph A. Childs who addressed the class members and their relatives and friends administered the oath of office and presented the new troopers with their badges.

Manpower of the state police has been sharply curtailed by the new five-day work week which was necessitated by a Civil Service Commission ruling effective in mid-1963. Troopers now work five nine-hour days, leaving a cushion of three hours for court appearances and other extra service. The former six-day week had run 54-hours.

The new officers bring the department's strength to 1,151, eight less than the authorized complement of 1,159. Posts receiving new troopers are East Lansing, Brighton, Ithaca, Detroit Center Line, Flat Rock, Ypsilanti, Pontiac, Erie, Bay City, Flint, Bridgeport, Jackson, Battle Creek, Paw Paw, New Buffalo, Wayland, Rockford, Mt. Pleasant, Grand Haven, Cheboygan, Gaylord and Houghton Lake.

Marine Private Gordon L. Ten Brink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Ten Brink of route 2, 13088 Quincy St., Holland, has completed four weeks of individual combat training at the Second Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

State Park Expansion Is Sought

Possibilities of expanding Holland State Park to include a 90-acre plot on Lake Macatawa are soon to be considered by the Michigan Conservation Commission which is scheduled to meet Jan. 17 in Lansing.

Parks Chief Arthur C. Elmer currently is preparing a recommendation for acquiring the Martin Michielsens property which is the site of the old Ottawa Beach golf course.

Michielsens acquired the property in 1942 and later remodeled the old clubhouse into a home and has been living there with his family since 1945. He operates a summer resort business of several small cottages which he rents by the week.

The Michielsens property is adjacent but not contiguous to the present state park borders, but does adjoin the Ottawa Beach park property which has been in litigation for several years. A court ruling has awarded the property to the Conservation Commission, but the possibility of appeals still exists.

The 90-acre plot also includes property east of Ottawa Beach Rd. with 1,000 feet of frontage on Lake Macatawa. Some years back, this lakefront site was used for Red Cross swimming classes.

Michielsens said the property has been in the "talk" stage with the Conservation Commission for almost five years. There seems to be no general opposition to such a move forthcoming from Ottawa Beach residents.

It is Elmer's plan to relocate the camping area at the park on the Michielsens property and make available more space for daily, non-camping persons visiting the park.

Last summer, more than a million people visited the park and 7,220 camping permits were issued.

Park Manager Lou Haney said the present camping area is crowded to capacity each summer. Many, many campers have been turned away on busy weekends.

If the State Conservation Commission acts favorably on Elmer's recommendation, the next step will be a formal request to the legislature for funds to develop the property. No purchasing prices have been revealed.

The golf course property previously was a part of the old Ottawa Beach Hotel which was destroyed by fire in 1924. This development which included the golf course was owned by Fred Pantlind who also owned Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids. A golf pro by the name of Mitt West operated the golf course for Pantlind for several years, but there was dwindling activity following the stock crash of 1929.

Back in the heyday of plush resort hotels, the picturesque Ottawa Beach Hotel was a fine hostelry. It was reached mainly by rail with the old Pere Marquette line providing special excursions. The Ottawa Beach Rd., particularly that section of Douglas Ave., previously was the railroad right of way.

More Snow Predicted

From 1 to 3 inches of new snow is predicted for the southern part of Lower Michigan tonight, with heavier snowfall in the lake area.

A mixture of snow and rain fell around 7 a.m. today leaving deposits of slush. This brought little hazard to city streets, but worse conditions for state highways, particularly in the Detroit area where thousands were late for work and minor accidents were so frequent that police could not keep up with them.

It was 33 degrees in Holland at 11 a.m. Only traces of precipitation were noted by the weather observer, but 3 inches of snow remained on the ground. Last year there were 8 inches on the ground, but by the end of January, the deposits had climbed to 42 inches.

Highs Friday will range from 16 to 30 with snow diminishing.

Two Cars Collide

Cars driven by Bernard A. Wiersma, 34, of 592 Pleasant St., Holland, and Bernard Brink, 66, of 719 West Ave., Grand Rapids, were damaged in a collision at 1:20 p.m. Monday at Seventh St. and Central Ave. City police cited Brink for failure to yield the right of way.

Open installation of officers of the Erutha Rebekah Lodge will be held Friday evening following a short business meeting at 8 p.m. Potluck lunch will be served following the ceremonies.

Karsten-Klein Rites Read

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Karsten

Miss Sharon Joy Klein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Klein of route 3 and Kenneth Karsten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Karsten of 39 South Maple, Zeeland, were united in marriage in a late afternoon ceremony on Dec. 28 in the Overisel Reformed Church.

The Rev. Neal Mol read the double ring rites before an altar decorated with palms and ferns, bouquets of white mums and red roses, banked by a decorated tree candelabra and offset by side arch candelabra. The pews were decorated with midnight blue satin bows and white bells.

Soloist Jerrold Kleinheksel sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Belle Kleinheksel played appropriate wedding music as the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. The bride, who carried a cascade of red roses, wore a floor length gown of luster satin, with cut velvet pointsettias extending from the moderately scooped neckline to the hem on the front of the Empire bodice, A-line skirt and trumpet shaped sleeves.

The flowers had crystal and pearl embroidery. A detachable chapel length train fell from a tiny cuff at the waistline in the back. Her elbow length veil of imported illusion fell from a pearl dusted romance rose of luster satin.

Miss Patricia Klein, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor with the Misses Marjorie Karsten, sister of the groom, and Mary Kroes of Kalamazoo acting as bridesmaids. They wore identical street length dresses of royal blue brocade accented by a released center front unpressed pleat in the skirt which joined a high waisted bodice front with contour back waistline, and below the elbow length sleeves.

Matching shoes and headpieces with veils completed their attire as they approached the altar carrying a cascade of tipped-blue pompons and daisy mums.

Wearing a light blue nylon organza dress and a halo of blue tipped pompons, Sandra Klein, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl while Donald Karsten acted as ring bearer for his brother's wedding.

James Karsten attended his brother as best man with groomsmen Willard Hoezee of Zeeland and Robert White of Flint.

Ushers were Ronald Klein, brother of the bride, and Robert Preston from Grosse Pointe.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Klein chose a green-gold brocade dress with bronze accented and a corsage of tinted bronze mums. The mother of the groom selected an oyster and blue knitted dress with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of tinted pink mums.

A reception for 100 guests was held following the ceremony in Bosch's Restaurant in Zeeland. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Klein were master and mistress of ceremonies.

Serving punch were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hansen, Miss Gloria Heuvelhorst, H. Arthur De Kleing and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gebben arranged the gifts. Miss Linda Karsten attended the guest book and her mother, Mrs. William Karsten entertained with a reading.

A medium blue wool suit with matching accessories, complemented by a red rose corsage which was donned by the bride for a brief wedding trip to Missouri.

The groom's parents entertained with a luncheon at Van Raalte's following the rehearsal.

Large Turnout Is Reported For Tryouts

Holland's Community Theatre had one of the largest turnouts last Thursday and Friday evenings ever witnessed for theatre tryouts in the group's history. "Guest in the House," the forthcoming production of the group, is scheduled for February.

Results of the final casting will be announced shortly by Director George Steggerda. Many local citizens read for dramatic roles or signed up for various work crews. Others came to observe tryouts and look over the new location of the Theatre Workshop now located at 176 East 19th St. Theatre members served coffee and cookies to all who attended.

There is still a need for backstage workers, the director pointed out. Anyone interested in giving a few hours of work to the Community Theatre such as set construction, properties, costumes or painting is requested to phone the technical director, Cliff Owen at EX 6-2021 or come to the Theatre Workshop on East 19th St.

The Workshop will again be open to the public for a Community Theatre general meeting on Monday, Jan. 27, at 8:30 p.m.

The Christmas greeting sent to Hope College alumni showed the "new" alumni house, the handsome red brick house on East 12th St. formerly owned by the Carl Andreassens, in a snowy winter scene.

The card was the reproduction of a painting by Lemuel Patole, the artist from India who was around campus last year and who had a one-man show during Tulip Time.

Patole painted the winter scene last June, adding the generous quantities of snow ever present last winter. He even remembered to put a red flag on the aerial of the car parked in front.

Marian Stryker, alumni secretary, said the cards arrived from a publications house in New Jersey the Friday before Christmas. It took some doing to get them into the mail.

The tragic fire aboard the Greek cruise liner Lakonia which claimed about 100 lives off the coast of Spain just before Christmas stirred memories for John Mulder, 187 Howard Ave., who had been a second assistant engineer aboard the ship which was previously owned by the Netherlands Merchant Marine. It was in the Dutch service for 32 years and sailed under the name Johan van Oldenbarvelt.

When it was sold to a Greek shipping line, it was made into a cruise ship and renamed the Lakonia.

Mulder, who came to Holland, Mich., some years ago, had spent 10 years in the Dutch Merchant Marine both before and after World War II. He remembers a few trips aboard the old Lakonia sailing between Amsterdam and the Dutch East Indies.

City Manager Herb Holt says the American Municipal Association has a new word, "slurbs" which refers to poorly designed, inefficient and sprawling suburbs.

"Slurbs" are being studied by the League of California Cities' Committee on the Future. The project, supported by a $200,000 Ford Foundation grant, will study how to provide more variety in urban development, both in architecture and community planning.

Sponsors of the project hope it will have use in other states in providing guidelines for city councils and planning commissions.

California was selected because of its rapid population growth and its need for widespread developments in housing, industrial sites, recreation and public facilities.

Another item that came into the city manager's office concerned rapid growth of the council-manager form of government. It said 82 more communities in the United States and Canada adopted this plan in 1963, bringing the total to 1,954 communities now employing city managers. More than half of all American cities in the population group from 25,000 to 250,000 have city managers.

The largest local government with the council-manager plan is Dade County (Miami) Florida which has a population of 935,000. The council-manager form of government is 56 years old. It started in 1908 in Staunton, Va. Besides the 1,954 council-manager communities in North America, 1,732 cities and counties in Finland, West Germany, Ireland, Norway and Sweden have council-manager governments.

Wed in Hamilton Church

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eugene Haverdink

Miss Donna Kay Ten Brink became the bride of Paul Eugene Haverdink on Dec. 27 in an evening ceremony performed at Hamilton Christian Reformed Church.

The Rev. Seymour Van Drunen read the double ring rites for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Ten Brink of route 2, Hamilton and for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haverdink of route 2, Hamilton.

The couple repeated their vows before an altar decorated with kissing candles, bouquets of white chrysanthemums and snapdragons with a touch of blue and a fern background. White bows with greens marked the pews.

Miss Judy Baker, organist, accompanied Dr. Henry Ten Pas when he sang "O Perfect Love" and "Die Koven."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar wearing a gown of rose point chantilly lace over slipper satin. The gown was styled with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves.

A full satin skirt featured a lace overskirt which formed a bustle in the back with three Victorian roses in the back. Small clusters of Victorian roses caught up the apron in the front and at each side. A fan-shaped detachable train fell from the waistline. A double crown of pearls and crystals held a shoulder-length veil of imported French illusion. She carried a white Bible topped by a white rose and blue tipped carnation corsage. She wore a pearl pendant necklace, a gift from the groom.

Maid of honor was Miss Sandra Sprick who was dressed in a street-length gown of Copenhagen blue taffeta with matching organza overskirt. Small Victorian roses caught up one side of the overskirt and a large rose adorned the back of the dress.

The bride chose a blue wool dress for her going away outfit. With it she wore a matching feather hat, black patent accessories and mouton jacket. She wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The groom's parents entertained with a rehearsal luncheon.

Pre-nuptial showers were given by Miss Lois Schaap; Mrs. John Bouwman and Mrs. Donald Schaap; Miss Sharon Sprick, Miss Sharon Engelsman, Mrs. Curtis Folkert, Mrs. Calvin Gibson; Mrs. Julius Kempfers and Miss Lila Kempfers.

GOOD PARKING FACILITIES

The test of adequate parking facilities comes when old mother nature dumps a heavy snowfall in the middle of the Christmas shopping season. This is precisely what happened in Holland. We feel that Holland's main street shopping area came through this test with flying colors.

The snow removal from the main shopping streets was accomplished in an orderly fashion. The parking lots were usable throughout the week. The long range planning to provide parking areas proved to be correct. All the lots were filled but the turnover of shoppers was fast enough so that no one had to wait for space if they used the seventh street lots. All in all, shoppers in Holland found parking, driving, and walking accommodations better than prevailed in most of the areas in the snow belt.

The next step for improving the main street as a shopping center should be the establishment of pedestrian thoroughfares in the middle of the blocks, leading to the parking areas from the main street. These need not necessarily be city-financed but might be accomplished by property owners developing such right of ways in the form of arcades bordered by offices and shops which would greatly improve the income potential of the properties. At any rate we believe Holland is on the right track for keeping it's business district healthy and growing.

What do our people think about our arrangements? Write a short public opinion if you wish. Be sure and stay within 300 words and sign your name and address.

Little Dutch Lose, 57-56

MUSKEGON — Larry Bull's jump shot basket as time ran out here Tuesday night gave the Muskegon Catholic reserves a 57-56 win over the Holland seconds in the Catholic gym.

It was Holland's second loss in seven starts this season and came hard as the Dutch were leading by six points in the fourth quarter.

But the lead dwindled and Dutch fouls in the closing seconds helped the winners' creep to within one, 56-55 with only seconds left. The Crusaders got the ball and Bull, who had nine points in the game, fired.

The winners led 16-11 at the quarter but trailed, 28-27 at half. Muskegon Catholic led 43-39 at the third period's close but Holland came back and knotted the score and then moved in front.

Joe Ryznar had 21 for the winners. Larry Pete also hit 21 for Holland while Bob Brolin made 11. Steve Millard made nine and Mike Lawson had eight. Tom Prins sank four while John Dalman had two and Tom Thomas, one.

Each team made 30 per cent of their shots. Holland had 22 of 73 on quarters of 5-15; 5-18; 5-21 and 7-19 while the Crusaders had 22 of 73 on periods of 6-12; 5-17; 4-15 and 4-19.

Philip and Andrew,
Evangelists
John 1:35-46
By C. P. Dame

Every congregation would be much stronger than it is at the present time if it had a larger number of members possessing the passion for souls that Philip and Andrew of the early church had. It is hoped that the study of this lesson will cause us all to become more skilled in the art of winning people to Christ.

I. Let us first study Andrew. He was a Jew, a member of the Jewish Church which at that time was cold, legalistic and spiritually dead. When John the Baptist began preaching Andrew became his disciple. One day, John pointed to Jesus and said, "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world."

Andrew and a friend also named John, followed Jesus who seeing the two asked, "What seekest thou?" The two asked, "Rabbi, where dwellest thou?" Jesus said, "Come and see," and they came and saw and spent the rest of that unforgettable day with him.

Both men became the Lord's disciples and later on apostles. Andrew left the Baptist and joined himself to Jesus.

Andrew became a soul-winner. He first found his brother Peter, then known as Simon and introduced him to Jesus, saying to him, "We have found the Messiah."

Later on Andrew introduced a boy who had five loaves and two fishes to Jesus. Leading a boy to Jesus often has big consequences. On Tuesday of Holy Week several Greeks who wanted to see Jesus approached Philip, who led them to Andrew and then the two brought them to Jesus.

Some church members always want first place. Andrew was always willing to take second place.

The apostles were divided into groups. Andrew was in the first group, with Peter, James and John. When Jesus healed the daughter of Jairus, the three went along in the house, but not Andrew. Jesus took the three with Him to the Mount of Transfiguration and in the garden where he suffered but not Andrew who showed no sign of envy. Andrew was a man of average ability who used it for his Lord.

II. Philip was a cautious person. Jesus found Philip and called upon him to follow Him and he did and he found Nathanael to whom he said when he raised an objection, "Come and see" and he did.

Before Jesus fed the five thousand he approached Philip who now was an apostle, and asked him, "Whence shall we buy bread that these men may eat?" Philip did not think it was possible but Jesus performed the miracle and multiplied the boy's lunch and the whole multitude was fed.

On Tuesday of Holy Week Philip and Andrew brought the Greeks to Jesus and on Thursday Philip said to Jesus, "Lord, shew us the Father and it sufficeth us"—words that express man's deepest yearning. Jesus told Philip that, "He that hath seen Me, hath seen the Father. Note that the Lord bases His claim on His word and on His works. Both testify of His deity. Philip believed and served.

Talk on Averages Proves Challenging for Club

A thought-provoking talk on "Education of the Average Child" by Dr. Millard G. Roberts, president of Parsons College in Fairfield, Ia., Tuesday afternoon challenged members of the Woman's Literary Club.

In appearance and manner, Dr. Roberts resembled to raconteur Sam Levenson and his stories followed the same bent—highly entertaining but with a sharp bite of satire and all masked by a smiling face.

"What is average?" Dr. Roberts asked, and the rest of his talk dealt with the maze of definitions, a different one for every person and often different for the same person when approached from emotional, intellectual or social views.

"Certainly, no parent ever felt his children were below average," Dr. Roberts said.

"People today seem to have two aims — satiation of the senses and acquiring more worldly goods . . . and both of these aims in the final analysis are pretty weak. In satiating our senses, we want to be cooler in the summer and jump quickly from an air conditioned car into an air conditioned house, to the shower, to the pool, etc., and in the winter, we want to be warmer. We rush from a heated car to a heated home or office wearing a fur coat. And the coat becomes a symbol. We strive to have a full-length mink, then two minks, a black mink, an aqua mink, perhaps six minks . . . a dozen minks? And we get mental blocks; we can't remember the things we don't want to remember.

"Somewhere in the picture, all parents have a desire to have things better for their children than what they had, and the pressures today become an immense responsibility. Besides this, there is a gigantic shrinking of the world and a pattern of wealth, particularly in this country, that poses real questions. And satiating the senses and acquiring goods are pretty weak answers."

Dr. Roberts said 2.2 million young people graduated from high school last year and 1.2 million took college board exams. The average on 1.2 million mathematically should be around 6, but the average turned out to be 3.91. Again he asked, "Who is average, and what is average? His answer was 'Name your own average.'"

His stories about Claude, an unpromising 10-year-old held back in the third grade not only because he could not spell but because he couldn't find his own seat after nine months in the classroom, appeared hilariously funny but had an indelible bite.

Dr. Roberts spoke on educational standards, and the pressures in the total picture which involves tax dollars, politics and many other facets besides the parents who tell the educators "be tough with kids today" but when it involves their own children, they want the educators "to be fair." He said Parsons College, whose enrollment was boosted from 212 in 1955 to 2,230 today, is often criticized for taking all kinds of students, but he also praised educational opportunities, particularly the loan funds, adding no student ever had to leave Parsons College because of financial straits.

"We're never going to have any education except what the taxpayers want," he said. "And you aren't what you say you are; you are what you prove you are." He added.

Mrs. Kenneth Koiker, club president, paid tribute to a member, Mrs. Edward Herpolsheimer, who died on Christmas day, and read an acknowledgment of gifts to patients at the Ottawa County Infirmary. She called attention to a meeting next Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. of the Literary Seminar led by Mrs. William G. Winter, and a 10 a.m. meeting Tuesday of the Hospital committee.

John Kleis Speaks At Optimist Meet

A talk, illustrated with slides, was given at the Holland Noon Optimist luncheon on Monday at Cumerford's Restaurant, by John Kleis of Holland.

Kleis told how he became interested in bee culture about 35 years ago, and now has 100 colonies of bees, each colony having from 40,000 to 75,000 bees. The bees make 20,000 trips, approximately 25,000 miles, to the fields to bring in a single pound of honey, he said.

During these flights, and in their search for pollen for food 138,000 colonies of bees produced 10,074,000 pounds of honey to place Michigan high nationally in honey production.

In addition to pollinating cherries, apples, berries, peaches, peas, grapes, cucumbers and melons in the growth of which Michigan ranks in the top ten producing states, they pollinate the legume and seed crops which produce the feed for the milk cattle and livestock.

Beauty in Natural Setting Stressed by Landscaper

Charles W. Cares Jr., Professor of Landscape Architecture at the University of Michigan, spoke on "Backyard—U.S.A." to members of the Holland Garden Club on Thursday afternoon. He illustrated his subject with slides.

The speaker had a down-to-earth philosophy of landscaping and his slides were in many instances of natural settings not usually associated with the idea of landscaping. He pointed out that people must be trained to observe beauty in this field.

One series of pictures showed the lack of decision in defining entrances, play and service areas. Another showed typical backyards ranging from a natural environment without flowers, a "Wild Corner" with a tree house and a slum backyard.

Professor Cares told his audience "some gardens are like a woman wearing too much jewelry." He stressed beauty in limited design and striving for beauty through movement of sun and shadow.

Other slides showed the yard as an extension of the house, an economical way of purchasing space. "The need for privacy can be solved with an austere fence, later highlighted by plants and flowers," he told his audience.

Theories of understatement in landscaping and the veiling of views through the use of fences or the tracery of branches were

Autograph Book Delights Century Club Members

What an autograph book! And it was clutched from a fernery containing rubbish by a knowledgeable amateur book collector when the possessions of the late Senator William Alden Smith were being disposed of.

This "autograph book" known as the Guest Book of the late Senator was the subject of an interesting and nostalgic program given at the Century Club Monday evening in Phelps Hall. The book collector who possesses this item is Grand Rapids attorney John Cary, who presented the program.

Signatures in the book especially interesting to Century Club members were G.J. Diekema and family who signed the book on Dec. 27, 1910. Mr. Diekema, a member of Century Club, was Congressman from this district for two terms starting in 1907 and at the time of his death, Ambassador to the Netherlands.

Another signature was that of Nicholas Whelan, a Holland publisher who, according to Mr. Cary roared and smiled his way into politics; G.J. Kollen, a Holland attorney for whom Kollen Park was named; Carl E. Mapes, Congressman; Arthur H. Vandenberg who signed the book on the day the Senate passed a resolution declaring war on Germany, April 2, 1917. Vandenberg was a longtime senator from Grand Rapids and publisher of the Grand Rapids Herald when Smith was in Washington.

Outstanding names in the book which covers the years 1907 to 1919 include Admiral George Dewey of the Navy; Warren and Florence King Harding, names difficult to find, and Henry Ford, whose signature alone according to Mr. Cary should make the Guest Book priceless.

The speaker was introduced by Attorney Wendell Miles. Music for the evening was presented by David Wikman, baritone from Muskegon who is in charge of vocal music at Reeths-Puffer school.

He sang the "Catalog Aria from Don Giovanni" by Mozart; "Strike the Viol," Purcell; "In the Fields" by Duke; "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel"; a spiritual, and "Wait for the Wagon" arranged by Tom Wikman brother of the baritone and his accompanist.

Club president, Dr. William G. Winter, announced the February meeting will be a program on "Space Technology" by Professor Wilbur C. Nelson of the University of Michigan.

A film from the Michigan State Conservation Department on Indian Dances portrayed the origin of the dances from nature like the flight of the eagles. Mrs. Hazel Hayes showed the film.

An Indian dance was presented by a group of sixth grade Camp Fire Girls from Montello Park School. Leaders are Mrs. Donald Smeenge and Mrs. J.L. Vander West.

The next meeting of the Junior Garden Club will be held Feb. 3 at the Herrick Library. At this time plants for the "green thumb" contest will be judged. "Youth on the Conservation Trail," a film, will also be shown.

Knights Take 3rd Straight MIAA Victory

Hitting 46 per cent of its shots, Calvin College's basketball team defeated Hope College 90-82 here Wednesday night for its third straight MIAA victory before 2,500 fans in the Civic Center.

The Knights, playing their "toughest game of the season" connected on 37 of 80 shots in the game, including 18 of 32 in the second half after making 19 of 48 in the first 20 minutes.

This fine shooting coupled with superior rebounding, especially on the defensive boards, told the story as the Knights were in command throughout in handling Hope its second MIAA loss in three starts.

After trailing at one point by 17 points at 12:20 in the second half and by as much as 13 points, 80-67 with 4:20 left, the Flying Dutchmen made a game out of it in the closing seconds and managed to pull within six, 86-80 with 1:39 remaining.

Hope's pressing tactics along with some alert all-around play and scrappiness, aided in the rally. Freshman Carl Walters and sophomores Clare Van Wieren and Chris Buys each hit two baskets during the three minutes and Buys added two free shots and Van Wieren one.

This spurt was the highlight of Hope's performance although Coach Russ De Vette was impressed with Hope's offensive rebounding, especially in the second half.

But although they got the ball, the losers had all kinds of trouble hitting, both good and off-balance shots, as the Knights employed a pressure defense.

Hope ended getting only 31 per cent from the floor, one of its poorest nights this season, with 33 baskets in 105 attempts. The losers had 31 per cent in each half with 16 of 52 and 17 of 53.

Coach Barney Steen, who called the contest the toughest so far this season for his club, received a fine performance out of his strong front line and experienced guards.

Senior 6'3" Jim Van Eerden, playing his first season at guard after three years as a forward, did a fine job of driving through the Hope defense. He tallied 10 baskets, mostly on layups, in 18 tries. He made four of five in the second half.

Van Eerden also sank three free throws to lead Calvin with 23. His driving layup with 12:20 left gave Calvin its biggest lead, 64-47.

Bill Knoester, 6'3" sophomore, played his best all-around game this season, Steen said. He tallied 18 points on nine out of 20 and two of his baskets helped push the Knights to a 59-44 spread, the game's second biggest bulge with the second half six minutes old.

Aiding in the rebounding and scoring was 6'4" junior Ken Fletcher, who made 15 points, including four in the final two-and-a-half minutes. Jim Fredricks, Holland 6' sophomore guard, made 14, six of 16 and a pair of free shots. Most of Fredricks' baskets were on long jumpers.

Calvin lost Knoester and 6'5" freshman center Rick Duistermars on fouls in the closing two minutes while Hope lost Capt. Glenn Van Wieren with three minutes and Walters in the last 18 seconds.

Walters again stood out for Hope and notched 14 points a point behind Clare Van Wieren, who made 13 of his points in the second half. Van Wieren's first basket, in the opening two minutes, had given Hope one of its two leads, 4-3, in the game. The other came seconds later, 6-5 on Walters' first basket. Glenn Van Wieren and Ron Venhuizen each had 10.

Each team made 16 free shots. Hope had 26 tries and the Knights, 22. Calvin won the overall rebounding battle, 56-53, including a 34-24 first half spread when the Knights held a 43-37 margin. Hope outrebounded the Knights, 29-21 in the second half.

Hope, now 5-4 for the season, hosts Olivet Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center. The Knights, 5-5, play Adrian in an MIAA game in Grand Rapids Saturday at 3 p.m.

The marriage of Miss Doreen Beth Lemmen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lemmen, 616 Lawn Ave., and Gail William Harbers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Harbers of Almene, Kan., was solemnized Dec. 28 in the Berean Bible Church.

The Rev. Clarence E. Kramer officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. assisted by the bride's father, following appropriate organ music played by Henry Bol. Len Lemmen, brother of the bride, sang "Wedding Song" and "Together." "Christian Wedding Song" was sung by the bride.

Vows were exchanged in a setting of spiral candelabra, kissing candles, bouquets of snapdragons and chrysanthemums and red carnations offset by ferns. Red and white scented candles marked the windows and white bows and green leaves decorated the aisle pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a floor-length gown of satin brocade featuring a high empire bodice with pearl trimmed midriff. The bell-shaped skirt ended in a chapel train with a Romance rose at the back waistline. Her circlet crown of pearlized flowers held an elbow-length veil of imported illusion. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white carnations on a white Bible.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. Len Lemmen, her sister-in-law, wore a red velvet street-length dress with three-quarter length sleeves. The red chantly lace overskirt was complemented by a velveteen bustle bow. She wore a red chantly lace headpiece and carried a white fur muff adorned with white chrysanthemums and red satin balls.

Mrs. Lemmen, for her daughter's wedding, chose a teal blue sheath dress with teal and white accessories while Mrs. Harbers, mother of the groom, selected a royal blue and black dress with black and white accessories. Their corsages included red sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Attending the groom was Glen Ross of Almene, Kan., brother-in-law of the groom as best man. Ronald Blauwkamp and Mr. Ross served as ushers. About 70 guests attended the reception held at Cumerford's Restaurant. Assisting were Mrs. Ben Schakelaar in the gift room; Mrs. Glen Ross who was at the punch bowl and Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Vander Hulst.

St. Joseph Falls, 70-60 To Christian

Holland Christian's basketball team finished strong with a 26-point fourth quarter to stop a rugged St. Joseph team, 70-60 to post its eighth straight victory before 2,100 fans on the Civic Center floor Friday night.

Trailing 46-44 going into the last period, Coach Art Tuls' Maroons really turned on the heat to win going away. A fast moving offense and an alive zone defense paved the way for the Christian victory. The Maroons with their active zone kept the pressure on the Bears all night long but in the fourth quarter particularly, to force the losers into undesirable low per centage shots. As a result of the zone, only three-year man, Terry Palleschi, and guard Mike Pallas hit with any consistency from out.

Up until the third period, the Maroons never trailed in the contest. But in the third stanza the fighting Bears gained the upper hand to lead by six points at one stage in the quarter. However the Maroons were not to be denied and seemed to get stronger as the game wore on.

Christian was a different ball club than the one which narrowly squeezed by Muskegon Christian on New Year's Day. Tuls had his squad moving on both offense and defense and the stepped up tempo kept the pressure on the Bears all the way. The Maroons got fine rebounding from Jack Langeland, who played one of his best games of the season, and from Jim Otte and Don Kronmeyer. Kronmeyer sat out most of the two middle quarters with three fouls. Again the guard play of Christian's Tom Dykema, Tom Deur and Ken Geurink was outstanding.

The Bears presented a rugged forward wall of big Palleschi, Don Fechner and Paul Davis. Neither club permitted many second shots at the hoop until the fourth quarter when the Maroons took over. Palleschi was one of the finest players on the floor possessing a great one handed shot from almost any spot on the court. His shooting was good for 23 points for the Bears.

Another factor in the Maroon victory was the balanced attack with five players scoring in double figures. Once again the locals had a fine shooting percentage hitting 40 per cent on 27 out of 68 tries. At the charity stripe the Maroons didn't fare as well as they only connected on 14 out of 26. The losers hit the same number on 24 attempts.

It took both clubs awhile to find the range at the outset with the clubs trading baskets. Two tough defenses kept the score at just 7-5 midway in the period. Three quick points at the period's close gave the Maroons a 14-9 lead at the horn.

The Maroons showed signs of pulling away at the start of the second period as they led by seven points at one stage, but the Bears paced back Palleschi's great shooting came back and always stayed within three points, from then on. St. Joseph managed to outscore the Maroons 18-16 in the period to trail 30-27 at halftime.

After the Maroons had taken a 34-29 bulge at the opening of the third quarter, the Bears made their move and scored nine straight points to take a 38-34 margin, midway in the period. Palleschi again and Fechner accounted for most of the damage. Paced by Deur and Kronmeyer from the outside, the locals fought back from a 43-37 deficit to within two points at the period's close.

Christian tied the count in a hurry to start the last period and pulled away from a 47-47 count with six minutes left. Led by Kronmeyer, Otte and Deur, and the locals upped the count to 59-52 with 3:02 left in the game. Two minutes later they moved the point spread to 11, their biggest lead of the game. When it was all over the locals had outscored the Bears 26-14 in the final eight minutes.

Dutch Hand Crusaders 85-72 Loss

MUSKEGON — Running up its highest score of the season, Holland High's basketball team stopped Muskegon Catholic, 85-72 for its third win in seven starts this season before 1,000 fans in the Catholic gym.

It was Holland's third straight victory after four setbacks and the second game in a row the Dutch have scored more than 80 points.

Hitting 38 per cent of their shots, the Dutch connected on 32 baskets in 83 tries and had quarters of 8-24; 8-14; 9-24 and 7-21.

Ken Thompson, 6'4" forward, had his best night of the season and helped push up the Holland shooting percentage, especially in the second quarter when he hit five baskets, all long jump shots, in seven tries.

Thompson had a total of 28 points on 13 baskets and two free shots. He hit four of seven from the floor in the first quarter and added four baskets in the second half, three in the fourth period.

Cal Beltman, junior guard, again did a good job of driving and of breaking up Catholic's zone press. Beltman's driving layup as the first quarter ended gave Holland a 16-15 first period lead and the Dutch never relinquished command.

Catholic had held the lead four times in the first period, the last time, 15-14 with 30 seconds left, Beltman's basket followed.

In the next two minutes, Thompson made five points, Darrel Schuurman three and Beltman two as the Dutch took a 26-17 lead. Holland stayed from 11 to five points ahead the rest of the half and closed with a 39-34 halftime lead.

Holland held eight to 11-point margins throughout the third quarter and Jeff Hollenbach's driving layup as the quarter ended previewed what was to come from Hollenbach in the fourth quarter. Hollenbach's basket made it 62-51 at the third quarter's end.

Hollenbach scored two baskets in the final period and made seven of eight free throws, including five in a row. The 6'4" senior's free shots came in clusters of two pair and three.

He made four straight points with four minutes left and made the final three points in the game as Holland pushed to a 13-point spread. A Jim De Neff layup with 3:30 left following Hollenbach's four points had given Holland an 80-66 bulge, biggest of the game.

Besides Thompson's scoring which Coach Don Piersma has been waiting for because of the slender senior's scoring ability last season, Piersma was also pleased with Thompson's 15 rebounds, tops for the club.

Beltman's driving game came in for praises as he picked up 15 points while Schuurman, who made 12, was commended for a steady game. De Neff was shoved back and forth from guard to forward in the game and was again strong on the boards and on defense. He had three baskets, all in the second half.

Willie Spencer led the losers, who are now 3-4, with 23, nine in the last quarter while Joe LeMieux had 20. He played three quarters with four fouls, fouling out in the last few seconds.

After scoring 16 points in the first period, the Dutch hit 23 in each of the last three quarters. Holland made 21 of 32 free shots. The Crusaders sank 12 of 28 and from the floor made 30 of 95 for 32 per cent on periods of 7-22; 9-23; 8-25 and 6-25.

Holland hosts Traverse City in an LMCA game Friday.

Maroons Win 9th Straight This Season

Holland Christian's basketball squad posted its ninth straight win of the season Tuesday night by squeezing out a 59-53 victory over upset-minded West Ottawa before 1,800 fans in the Panther gym.

Once again the unbeaten Maroons weathered another flurry by a determined opponent to take a narrow win. Coach Jack Bonham's aroused Panthers played their underdog, "everything to gain and nothing to lose" role to the hilt.

Trailing by 13 points at halftime the West Ottawa team fought back to knot the count three times in the final quarter before the Maroons became alive enough to pull out the win.

Christian held a comfortable 31-18 lead at halftime but let down badly in the third stanza to account for the close game. The Maroons suffered a severe blow when Don Kronemeyer, the team's leading scorer, reinjured a bad ankle on the last play of the first half and was forced to sit out the last two quarters. Without Kronemeyer much of the effectiveness of the Maroon fast break was lost even though Coach Art Tuls got fine performances from reserves Paul Cook and Jack Kalmink.

The losers knotted the count at 45-45 with 4:57 left to play in the game. Finally at 49-49 with an even four minutes left, the Maroons pulled away for good although the Panthers did narrow a six point deficit to 55-52 with 1:46 remaining in the contest. The Maroons, however with the aid of a couple of tips by Jim Otte, managed to keep the game out of reach.

The smaller Panthers showed plenty of hustle and scrap and held their own on the boards with help from big Bruce Van Huis, Dave Farabee and Arvin Visser. The Maroons were led in the rebounding department by Otte and reserves Cook and Harold Alferink, a 6'5" junior who played almost half of the game for Jack Langeland who came up with three personals in the first period.

Guard play for both clubs was outstanding. For the Maroons it was Tom Deur and Tom Dykema who kept the attack moving besides hitting well from outcourt. Deur, particularly showed some good moves, with several good drives for easy two pointers.

The West Ottawa attack was built around guards Bruce Johns and Dave Vizithum who repeatedly scored from the foul area off from screens. Van Huis, a junior, also showed well in spots during the contest coming through with 14 points in the big second half.

Both squads used man to man defenses and operated well, keeping the easy baskets at a minimum.

The game was tied four times at the start of the game before the Maroons broke away to a 11-7 count on two time offensive maneuvers by Kronemeyer. Otte also added two hookers to give the locals a 13-10 bulge at the end of the first period.

Led by Deur and Kronemeyer, Christian started to move in the second stanza. At the midway point in the quarter the Maroons were looking good on the fast break and led 24-16. Shortly before the half, the winners upped the bulge to 29-16. A good defense permitted the Panthers to notch just six baskets in the first two periods.

West Ottawa scored the first eight points of the second half before Holland's sputtering attack could score at the 4:48 mark. Tuls was forced to use three new men up front during the Panther flurry to add to the Maroon woes. After the Panthers had narrowed the count to 38-34 on fine shooting by Johns and Van Huis, the Maroons spurred to carry a 43-36 lead into the last period.

Again with Johns and Van Huis leading the way in the opening minutes of the final period, the Panthers finally caught Christian before the Maroons put on a winning flurry of their own.

From the field the Maroons outscored West Ottawa 25-18 but at the charity stripe Christian hit on nine out of 18 while the Panthers connected on 17 out of 25. Deur led the winners with 17 points, followed by Otte with 14. Van Huis led the Panthers with 18, just ahead of Johns with 16.

Christian now meets another powerhouse on Friday as they take on Hudsonville Unity Christian in the Hudsonville High school gym. West Ottawa is idle on Friday.
